“ My deepest condolences to the Cidras family. Laurie, Genevieve, and I are very sorry for your loss. As a neighbor who lived in Queens Village ,about a 2 minute walk to Anthony and Joe's house, I have lots of fond memories of Mr. Cidras. He always enjoyed the company of others especially when he was cooking a big bbq in the backyard for probably over 20 people . True to his Spaniard heritage, Mr, Cidras is probably the only person in NYC that could grow a vineyard in his backyard and make his own wine, I remember as a kid, there were jugs of wine in the basement made by Mr. Cidras. I will always remember the World Cup games that Mr.Cidras, Joe, I, and his other nephews would watch at a Spaniard bar on Queens BLVD at 2am . Yes, 2 in the morning. We would all be screaming our lungs off rooting for Spain and at 5 or 6 am in the morning, we would all hop on the train to go to our jobs. Mr Cidras enjoyed the BBQ's he cooked for his family and friends , watching Spain play soccer whether at 2pm or 2am at a bar on Queens Blvd, He loved being around people . There are so many more things I can write about, but those are the memories I remember best. Rest in Peace .
