“ Sis, I am sitting here thinking of you and all that we have been through together. I know that you are at peace. I will miss you forever 💔. Coming back home for visits will never be the same, but I know we will be together again some day. We love you to the moon and back. Love, your little sis and Tommy.

“ We love and miss you. We will miss our chicken dinner nights together and just hanging around the house to catch up on missed programs. The many dinners and lunches we buy from the local churches and bring home, but I most of all will miss our heart to heart girl talks. I know how much you and I have been through together but I also know that the love you had for your family was the most important thing in the world. You loved your family deeply with no exceptions. I know how much your family loves and misses you as do I. It's hard to believe you're gone. Feels like I can pick up the phone right now and just call you. It's very hard but my love and prayers go deeply out to your whole family. My prayers and strengths are with them all. We will miss you so much. You rest in peace and we'll meet again at the Gateway Diner in heaven on Wednesday night for that cream of mushroom soup you always loved. You're a great friend and a great sister-in-law. And I love and miss you. Love Sandy and your brother Danny

“ I will miss our long talks about well, pretty much anything we had on our minds, at the moment. My Aunt Dot is the only reason I made it through the passing of so many friends and family these past 2 years. After my dad and my grandmother I was just broken. I could never thank her enough for being there, and calling consistently to check up on me and make sure I was doing ok. We agreed to both just “start new” and try to move on with our lives and all the losses and forget the things we had no control over, and those who have been bringing negative energy into our lives. I was so happy for her to be able to start a new and fresh life as she deserves it and then some. She was the glue that held our family together. Truly a wonderful woman, and Aunt. She will be missed by so, so many! The loss our family feels right now, It’s hard to say she’s at peace,, but I know she is and she’s being reunited with our other family members that have passed before her. She will be another beautiful, bright angel looking down and keeping watch over all of her family members. Rest In Peace, and god bless you Aunt Dot. You will be greatly missed. 🙏😊🦋💋👁️😭💕💕
