“ I have too many memories to pen right now. However, Michael was a great cousin to the Earley family. He assisted this upstate scared young man to climb up on the bridge to the tracks down by the river near the Triboro bridge holding on to only the side of the arch that was less than 20 inches wide. Mike and his Ditmar friends had been climbing it since grammar school. He and Angelo talked me up and down that dangerous ledge along with Kathy. Some would have called me names or belittled me but that was not in Mike's character. He supported his friends and family. Very loving, caring and honest. God rest his soul. Bless his family. Cousin Jim Earley
